The Chair Collapse Conspiracy

Date: 8th August 2025
Subject: Investigation into Sudden Structural Failure of Class Chair

At 9:15 a.m., student Ankit dramatically stood to present his assignment, adjusted his posture, and sat back down with confidence. The chair beneath him gave up on life instantly, collapsing in front of the entire class. Witnesses reported simultaneous laughter, concern, and at least two phones filming. The teacher paused, torn between compassion and uncontrollable giggles. A post-fall investigation showed that the chair's rear leg had been wobbling since last semester. Several students admitted they'd avoided sitting on it but had never reported it because "it was kind of funny."

Chair's death deemed inevitable. However, Ankit's dramatic timing made it legendary. His "graceful fall" was rated 9.5/10 by classmates.

Ankit cleared of blame. Chair declared fallen hero. Replacement still pending.
